FIA New England & The Indian American Community Organized A Pre-Release Film Impact Program About "The Kashmir Files" At The Harvard Club & UMass

Vivek Agnihotri and Pallavi Joshi with team FIA, New England.

Federation of Indian Associations (FIA) and Indo American Community with many other partner organizations arranged a free sneak preview of "The Kashmir Files (TKF)" film screening before the formal release of this film on January 26, 2022, that coincides with the Republic Day of India at the Regal Cinema, Marlborough, MA on the evening of Friday, December 10, 2021. They also organized two exclusive pre-release film Impact programs about "The Kashmir Files (TKF)" on Wednesday, December 08, 2021, one at Harvard Club, Boston, MA in the afternoon, and the other at the University of Massachusetts, Dartmouth, MA in the evening. Generally, sneak previews provide additional publicity and word-of-mouth exposure for a movie. A hall full of audiences watched TKF - a remarkable film that brought out the horrible truth about Hindu genocide in the Kashmir Valley with pin-drop silence and much inquisitiveness for what happens next.

This film is produced by a well-known and graceful actor Pallavi Joshi Agnihotri and is directed and written by an acclaimed director Vivek Ranjan Agnihotri. Both have done great work to expose a tragedy for which India has failed for 31 years to show the real face of the Kashmiri Hindu genocide. This film is made with the intention of creating awareness and education among people about the true stories of Kashmiri Hindus, and to wipe out the false narratives set by some interest groups all these years. In addition, it is also a history of all Hindus for centuries and perhaps all persecuted societies of the world — whether it is Jews by Christian Germany, Christians in Turkey by the Islamic Ottoman empire, or the native religions of Americas and Africa by Christian

West, and systematic destruction of Muslims and their countries by Western deep state today.

All the invitees at the Harvard Club had a brief meet and greet program along with veggie wraps and various soft beverages, spending with Vivek Agnihotri (Film Director), Pallavi Joshi (actress), and Mallika (creative producer). Abhishek Singh (President of FIA, NE) and Jyoti Singh (Emcee of the program) welcomed all the invitees and set the tone of the discussion, and said they are hopeful the outcome of this discussion will help to prevail the Global Peace, Social Harmony, and humanity. Following a brief clip of the making of the film, Vivek Agnihotri briefed the audience about his motivato uncover the truth behind the unreported/partially reported stories of the Indian history, and highlights of pains, sufferings, struggles, and trauma of Kashmiri Pandits. Then, he realized hypocritical policies adopted by the local and international top leaders and government agencies that raises questions about the principle of democracy, religion, politics, and humanity. It is an honest effort to uncover the truth, and present to the world.

Prof. Bal Ram Singh moderated the panel discussion that comprised of Prof. Sanjay Kaul, Swati Chauhan, a student at Harvard Divinity School, Dr. Ramesh Kapoor, and Prof. Adam J. Sulkowski of Babson College. The panelists expressed their enlightening thoughts and said that such films, documentaries, and literature will definitely help the educators in teaching the younger generations about the factors and patterns of genocides, and how to address issues of human rights, and world peace. In his concluding remarks, Vivek said that such issues would not be resolved by being either a leftist or rightist but by being in the middle as Lord Shiva's third eye. It is an eye of wisdom, which provides us the ability to distinguish what is right and what is wrong and leads to oneness and true harmony in the world. The packed Hall of influential intellectuals and local dignitaries applauded his speech. He as well answered all the questions raised by the audience in a brief interactive session.

Pallavi talked about her experiences that came across during her research and requested everyone to watch the film on Friday at Regal Cinema, Marlborough, MA. She urged people to then share their thoughts with family members, friends, and on social media to encourage people to watch this movie which will be released theatrically worldwide on 26 January 2022, coinciding with India's Republic Day. She asked people to be aware of the real situations and support efforts that are working towards building Kashmir as a heaven on the earth again. Gaurav Dixit, Mukta Munjal thanked all the partner organizations, media, and dignitaries for their participation to the discussion.

At UMass Dartmouth, Prof. Sukalyan Sengupta, Director of Center for Indic Studies, and Professor of Civil & Environmental Engineering Department led "The Kashmir Files" film screening event in the evening. He welcomed TKF film team, FIA, and Indian-American team members to the event and thanked a hall full of students, and eminent faculty members for their active support and participation.

There are the Kashmiri Muslim and The Kashmiri Hindu views of the exodus but it seems like truth always lies somewhere in the middle. Kashmir is the birthplace of Shaivism and wisdom. It needs to be re-built by moving from ignorance towards knowledge and by following the middle way as symbolized by the third eye of Lord Shiva. We need to embrace the true principles of oneness and social harmony and world peace –said the impactful speaker Vivek Agnihotri.

The faculty members namely, Prof. Amit Tandon, Prof. Uday Kant Jha, Prof. Jerry Solfvn, and two students - Shristi Bhat and

Chinmay Kadrollimath, Raj Gupta (FIA, Executive Board-Director) shared their remarks on the exodus of Kashmiri Hindus and measures to stop such events from occurring in the future. Prof Uday Jha, Decision & Information Sciences, presented a brief historical perspective and factors that lead to the 1990's Exodus of Kashmiri Hindus. In the Q&A session, Vivek answered all the curious questions of the students and faculty in a convincing and amicable manner. Pallavi shared her thoughts about the heartfelt interviews about the situations from the victims and their next-generation youths. Many students and other invitees also asked several questions to Pallavi and got her genuinely satisfactory answers. For the question, why a female tutor's role and not a male tutor's role was presented in the film, she said that not because females and children are vulnerable but it is a real character of the story. "You will definitely recognize that character when you watch this movie" – said Pallavi. One of the audiences said to the reporter that Vivek Ranjan Agnihotri's film TKF has made both Bharat (India) and the international arena proud of his creativity. Organizers of the program welcomed the filmmakers of "TKF" with royal treatment and rolled out the red carpet for them at the theater. Abhishek Singh, President of FIA highlighted the mission, vision of FIA, and the moderator Jyoti Singh thanked all those in the audience for supporting their efforts. FIA Secretary Rakesh Kasavari welcomed all to watch the movie with the filmmakers Vivek Agnihotri, Pallavi Joshi Agnihotri and their daughter Mallika Agnihotri. Vivek said to the viewers that whatever he wanted to say here is shown in the film and requested everyone to watch the movie and share their reviews with them and others at large on all the Social Medias. The viewers watched the movie for over two hours to grasp the stories of half million Kashmiri Hindu exodus and genocide in the film, it was an effort to remain sensitive to the emotional capacity of the audience to take the movie in a learning stride, thus an achievement by itself. The film truly makes you appreciate the skills of Vivek and his team in weaving all the true incidents into a heart-breaking story to tell the truth to the world, which could not be possible without an immense effort in thorough research. The movie deeply touches you; it touches your raw nerve and wakes you up from your deep apathy and unawareness. It makes you wonder how the continuous killings and destructions of the most advanced civilization – Bharat is on its last stage of hope. It makes you to ask a question to yourself, 'whether Bharat is going to survive and revive itself or perish soon like any other civilizations.'

The preview audiences who were selected from a cross-section of the population expressed their positive reactions. They said that everyone must watch The Kashmir Files movie to understand the forces that have posed threats to Hindus for centuries. Everyone said that the filmmakers have done justice to the story and every actor had put a tremendous effort and aided by solid performance in this collective film. All of them have become the real characters and not remained just as actors. The message the audiences took with them is that from now on, we need to stay united unconditionally, raise voice against the minority appeasement and pandering by the political leadership, and stop laying of the lives of our soldiers in the process of eliminating terrorists. We all need to encourage our executive, legislative, judiciary, administrative, and others branches of the Central government to get to the root cause of terrorism and eliminate it from the country.

After the Movie show, Vivek Agnihotri and Pallavi Joshi answered all the questions of the audiences in an agreeable fashion. Following this, Sanjay Gokhale handed over the citations signed by the Speaker, and the Majority and Minority leaders of Rhode Island House of Representatives to Vivek Agnihotri for his brilliant direction of a true Hindu genocide story, and to Pallavi Joshi for her brave production and excellent acting. Robert Lancia, a former member of the Rhode Island House of Representatives gave another combined citation released by the Governor of Rhode Island, Daniel J. McKee for the producer and director of the TKF film. FIA board members Mukta Munjal, Gaurav Dixit, Kajal Dixit, Chakshu Sharma, Aanand Sharma, Saurabh Gupta and Kaushik Patel also honored them with Kashmiri shawls and Souvenirs. FIA executives Deepak Sharma and Raj Gupta proposed a vote of thanks and concluded the event.

The husband-and-wife team also talked about the movie and its impact on terrorism in an exclusive video interview on Chai With Manju. During the interview, they talked about the years of research that went into making this movie.

FIA Congratulates Miss Harnaaz Sandhu- Winner of Miss Universe 2021 Title

The Federation of Indian Associations joins the global Indian community in congratulating 21-year-old Miss India, Harnaaz Kaur Sandhu, for winning the very coveted and prestigious championship title of Miss Universe at Eilat, Israel, held on December 12, 2021. She defeated Miss Paraguay, Nadia Ferreira (first runner up), and Lalela Mswane (South Africa) to win this glamorous beauty pageant after a 21-year absence. The Miss Universe Beauty Pageant was started in 1952.

In its almost 69-year history, India has won only 3 titles: 1994's Miss Sushmita Sen, 2000's Miss Lara Dutta and 2021's Miss Harnaaz Sandhu. It was her intelligent answer to a question: what advice would you give to young women watching how to deal with the pressures they face today? Her answer held the key to winning the crown.

Born in Chandigarh, Punjab, Harnaaz was also crowned Liva Miss Diva 2021. The first Indian Miss Universe in 1994, Sushmita Sen, was the Guest of Honor at the FIA's most popular flagship annual India Day Parade in NYC in 1994.

It is interesting to note here that many Indian beauties have won equally prestigious and popular Miss World titles, establishing India's richness in beauty and IT fields. They are Reita Faria (1966), Aishwarya Rai (1994), Diana Hayden (1997), Yukta Mookhey (1999), Priyanka Chopra (2000), and Manushi Chhillar (2017).

In the year 1994, Indian girls won both the universally prestigious beauty pageant titles: Miss Universe by Sushmita Sen and Miss World by Aishwarya Rai, establishing supremacy in the beauty arena. This must be heartening news. The India Festival Committee, former members of FIA, is celebrating 40 years of its illustrious track record of hosting beauty pageants annually.

Neil Patel, an Indian American businessman from central Ohio, is running for the United States Senate. According to his campaign website, Patel is running for the United States Senate so that he can work to guarantee that every Ohioan has the same opportunity that allowed him to succeed—and to safeguard the American ideals that make us an example to the rest of the world.

He has founded and operated dozens of small businesses in Central Ohio over the course of his three decades in business, employing over 1,000 people. He also helped link Columbus to towns all over the globe in trade through the group Sister City International, boosting local exports, according to the site. Immigrating to the U.S. with just $20 in his pocket, Patel worked several jobs, including selling candy apples on the street—and eventually made enough to open his first small business and “live the American Dream.” As his success and knowledge in business grew over time, so did his self-driven duty to give back to the community and nation that made it all possible, notes the campaign.

Indian-Origin Leena Nair Has Been Appointed as The New Global CEO Of French Luxury Group Chanel

Unilever's chief human resource officer, Leena Nair, has been chosen the next global CEO of French fashion label Chanel. She is the second Indian-origin woman to be appointed as a worldwide CEO, following Indra Nooyi (PepsiCo), Leena's mentor.

Nair tweeted that she was "humbled and honored to be appointed the Global Chief Executive Officer of @CHANEL, an iconic and admired company."

Leena Nair's 30-year career at Unilever comes to an end as the company's chief human resources officer and a member of the executive committee. Unilever's CEO, Alan Jope, thanked her for her "outstanding contribution", adding that she "has been a pioneer through her career... a driving force on our (Unilever's) equity, diversity and inclusion agenda... she has played a critical role in building our purpose-led, future-fit organisation."

"I am grateful for my long career at @Unilever, a place that has been my home for 30 years. It has given me so many opportunities to learn, grow and contribute to a truly purpose-driven organisation," Leena Nair tweeted. "I will always be a proud advocate of @Unilever and its ambition to make sustainable living commonplace," she added in another tweet.

Leena Nair, who was born and raised in Kolhapur, will now be based in London and will begin working for the luxury house at the end of January.

Imran Amed, creator and CEO of the Business of Fashion, a prominent industry news website, described Nair's hiring as "a welcome change from the kind of formulaic model of the executives that tend to run major luxury brands"

While it is not unusual for fashion firms to hire top executives from consumer goods companies, they typically come from marketing departments due to their skill in managing brands – a luxury fashion company's most valuable asset.

However, Chanel's choice to recruit Nair, who has a long history in human resources, highlights the company's attempts to adapt to changing consumer and workplace attitudes toward sustainability and diversity, according to Amed. Rivals such as Kering, which owns Gucci and Yves Saint Laurent, have moved quicker to establish "leading positions" in terms of increased consumer awareness of the industry's environmental effect and the significance of inclusive recruiting as they compete for talent, according to Amed.

Amed stated that Nair has "truly been engaged on these types of problems during her tenure at Unilever." "I believe that is a significant challenge for Chanel as it strives to revamp its corporate culture." Back home, her selection is considered as a proof of the rising status of Indian business executives. It's also a watershed moment for women, because there are so few of them at the helm of major luxury brands, according to Amed.

Kurani will debut the unique collection of 2,022 NFTs through SolSea, an open NFT marketplace that will employ Civic's technology for better security with on-chain liveness certification and will use Solana blockchain to ensure the least effect on the environment. Supporters of SolSea will receive an NFT with Kurani's crypto ideals and thoughts, as well as prospective policy agendas for the future of web3, according to the statement.

Kurani said of her historic NFT launch, "I've always been interested in how we can make things work better. From my work as an engineer helping companies transition from fossil fuels to building a company democratizing access to funding, I've dedicated my career to building a better future. We have an opportunity to be at the forefront of innovation by supporting emerging technologies and bringing more and more people into the fold, and we must responsibly build and invest in 21st century digital services to continue our journey in transparency, efficiency, and access."

Kurani, a Democrat running for Congress in California's 42nd District, is taking on Ken Calvert, a 30-year Washington veteran. According to the California Citizens Redistricting Commission's most recent design of the congressional district, the new district is evenly split between Democrats and Republicans.

It's officially here! Katrina Kaif and Vicky Kaushal Are Now Married

Indian stars Katrina Kaif and Vicky Kaushal have been proclaimed man and wife during one of the year's most spectacular wedding celebrations. The Six Senses Fort Barwara hotel in Sawai Madhopur's Chauth Ka Barwara area was lavishly decorated for celebrity couple Katrina Kaif and Vicky Kaushal's wedding festivities.

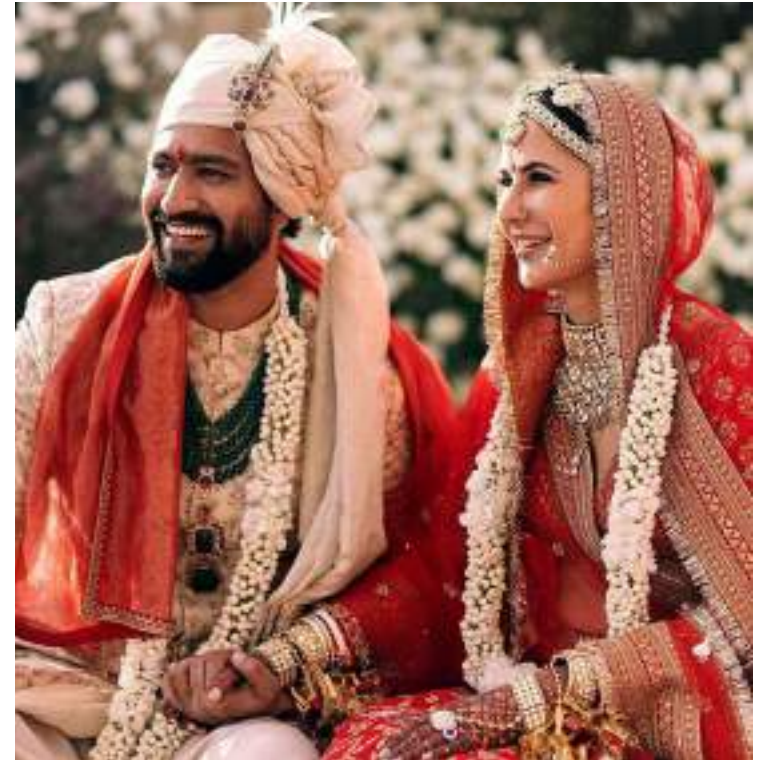

Katrina donned a bridal lehenga designed by Sabyasachi Mukherjee on her wedding day. Vicky is claimed to have dressed in a beige sherwani following his "sehrabandi." The couple also announced that they will give a reception in Mumbai for those who were unable to attend the very exclusive wedding ceremony in Sawai Madhopur. Vicky drove to the mandap in a vintage automobile with his baraatis, which included his brother Sunny Kaushal, good friend Angad Bedi, and family members. The couple took the pheras in the customary manner, putting the festivities that began on December 7 to a close. The couple's pre-wedding celebrations officially began when Bollywood superstars and close friends, such as Kabir Khan, his wife Mini Mathur, and their daughter Sairah, departed Mumbai for Jaipur. Following suit, Angad Bedi, Neha Dhupia, Sharvari Wagh, Radhika Madan, and Malavika Mohanan increased the tempo of the festivities.

The visitors were greeted warmly and served Rajasthani and Punjabi dishes as the location lighted up the Sawai Madhopur skyline and pyrotechnics added to the drama. Twenty kilogrammes of GI-tagged henna supplied from Sojat on the river Sukri in Rajasthan were used in the 'mehendi' festivities. The 'haldi' ceremony followed, with attendees adhering to the yellow dress code. This was the first time the journalists saw the guests in the halls of the premium hotel. Following the publication of the photographs on the Internet, the organisers hung curtains on the arches of the fort-hotel to safeguard the privacy of the guests from prying eyes.

Gurdas Maan, Hardy Sandhu, Shankar Mahadevan, Ehsaan Noorani, and Manj Musik performed at the 'sangeet' night on December 8 to amuse the exclusive gathering. Moments after Katrina and Vicky made their wedding photos public on Instagram, Bollywood celebs flocked to wish the couple well.

Gangubai Kathiawadi has been selected for screening as part of Berlinale Special, a section of the festival dedicated to showcasing outstanding cinema. The films chosen for this year's festival were shot during the epidemic. Sanjay Leela Bhansali's 10th film has been very significant for him as he commemorates 25 years as a filmmaker. "The narrative of Gangubai Kathiawadi has been extremely important to my heart, and my team and I have given it all to make this dream a reality," Bhansali adds. We are ecstatic to have our picture screened at the famous Berlin International Film Festival." Producer Jayantilal Gada of Pen Studios also shared his thoughts: "I believe in Mr. Bhansali and his craft. It gives me great joy that our film will be presented at the Berlin International Film Festival and I am proud to associate with Mr. Bhansali. Alia has given a great performance and I am thankful to Ajay Devgn too for being a part of this project. It's a story that will engage and appeal to global audiences."
